

Who You Be?

By: Mrs. Irene Williams

Refuse to walk around with your head held down in
When you know that our God reigns.
His Son on the cross, He felt our pain –
And dealt with it – so Satan, from it you cannot gain.
You see – our God – He knows each one of us by our name.
Use your life to help someone so your living won't be in vain.
All of us have a past, you see.
And if – from you past – Christ has set you free,
Why don't you share with someone 'who you be'?
Don't worry about people and what they might say or think about you.
Rejoice and be glad and allow God to use you.
No human being makes the A-list all the time.
We miss the mark, and we fall down.
When Christ has worked with you on your progress report
and delivered you from some things,
Open your mouth and tell someone. Don't you refrain.
If you refuse to do so, other lives will remain unchanged.
They want to get free, too, but don't know how to break the chains.
Don't pretend you've always been good. As opportunity presents itself - share with someone around you – whether it's in the hood or your neighborhood.
See what you think is your business that will become Christ's witness.
Most of the people in the Bible God used - they had a past.
And from part of that past lineage Christ came.
Now, aren't you glad? If God - through His Word –

can tell us of people's past He used to set us free,
Why are we ashamed and hesitant to tell someone 'who we be'?
Someone needs to know that they're not alone.
They need to hear from you that you've been through hard knots school, too –
And God dealt with you, cleansed you and made you new.
People can relate to what you've gone through,
Giving them hope that God will deliver them, too.
It's your authenticity people want to see.
Now tell it... 'who you be'?
None of us are perfect beings.
What God can do with our lives remains to be seen.
No longer over your head let Satan hold a lie.
Tell who you are so God's glory can transpire.
Don't ever think that you are a misfit,
For in God's Kingdom there's a place for everyone to fit.
Trust and obey God, and your past that Satan used.
With God it can become a big hit,
Making the devil shame and giving him a fit.
